

Web Design

Well written copy can be the difference between a potential paying customer visiting your site and leaving, or that same potential customer visiting your site, finding what they are looking for and either contacting your, or buying straight away (depending on the type of business you run). This is what makes us different from every other web design business - we come from a marketing and sales background, we know how to create websites that will sell your products or services. Choosing us to build your website also means you get access to our copywriting expertise. Well written sales copy is something that is lacking from most business websites - and as more and more people go online to find what they are looking for, having a website with well written sales copy will give you a distinct competitive advantage over your competition. Our search engine optimisation and pay-per-click services also ensure that you can attract qualified potential customers, that are searching for the type of products or services that you offer. If you are interested in having a website that actually brings in more business for you, please contact us today - if you are in the Canberra area, we are more than happy to come and speak to you in person.

Email: enquiries@advertising-specialists.com Mobile: 0401 271 200 Phone 02 6262 2601 PO Box 7129 Watson ACT 2602